CxO as a Service

On-demand executive technical and security leadership for your business

Hiring a full-time CxO leader may not be feasible for some small-to-mid-sized businesses. Blue Mantis CxO as a Service provides your growing business with long-term executive leadership. We deliver a team of expert leaders, diverse resources, and proven processes to transform and optimize your IT and cybersecurity departments—delivered as a service for an affordable price.

Ongoing strategic guidance

Rally your IT and cybersecurity teams, align with strategic priorities, and help the board understand the value of your technology investments. Blue Mantis CxO as a Service is not just staff augmentation, making it unlike other "fractional" or "virtual" executive consultant options.

Our solution is a unique managed service delivering real-world experience and leadership backed by the diverse technical resources provided by Blue Mantis experts. We offer dedicated CIO, CISO, and CTO executives with decades of combined experience across multiple private and public sector organizations.

Accountable executive ownership

Trust Blue Mantis to empower your business with sustainable executive leadership that a single consultant cannot match. When you engage with a Blue Mantis CxO as a Service resource, your new on-demand executive leader takes ownership of your IT and cybersecurity strategy to create sustainable processes to meet your desired business outcomes. Our CxO resources are ultimately accountable to your business, reporting on KPIs monthly to prove you're getting the best return on investment.
